

Isatu B. Conteh

iconteh21@yahoo.com

(240) 425-7625

Summary: A newly minted full-stack web developer with solid front-end skills and some experience with back-end technologies like Ruby on Rails. Has a background in design and merchandising and rudimentary user experience, specifically information architecture skills and is comfortable working in both collaborative and independent environments.

Education:

General Assembly- Web Development Immersive Program 2015

Drexel University- Bachelor of Science in Design and Merchandising 2011

Skills:

Front-end

-HTML5/CSS3

-Javascript

-jQuery, Backbone.js

-Bootstrap

Back-end

-Ruby on Rails

-SQL(Postgres)

-Sinatra

Design

-Adobe CS 3 - 6

-Google Sketchup

Basic Computing

-CLI

-Git/Github

Experience:

Women Who Code- Currently serve as front-end hacknight study group lead. Normally consists of directing attendees towards learning resources like HTML/CSS and Javascript as well as contributing to resources on WWCD's Github repository and occasionally teaching HTML/CSS to attendees of First-timers night for beginners.

D.C. Science Hack Day- Created a website in collaboration with 5 other students/team members, that is meant to help policy makers and experts communicate with each other on certain topics with less red tape while still keeping their anonymity. It won the Science Hack Day Policy Award and is being picked up by Amazon Web services, with plans to present it to real policy makers in the near future.

Code for Crittenton- participated in a competition to build a website for a project associated with the Crittenton Services of the Greater Washington D.C area. Final design received a 100% score for design and 90% score for functionality

OnTap Magazine- Designed layouts for multiple pages of the August edition of the magazine using mainly Adobe InDesign

Related Work Experience:

Drexel University Monell Office- Edited images, compiled pdfs using Adobe Acrobat, typed and collated documents as well as other administrative tasks